Presidential Ruminations

By tradition, the spring "Presidential Ruminations" involves thanking all those who "did the work" during the year. There are three good reasons for this. First, such a message obviates the need for the president to think of something creative or witty. Second, it gives me the chance to genuinely thank SEAALL committee chairs and members, the executive board, and others for their contributions during the year. Finally, it's tradition. Thanks to Placement committee chair Trina Robinson and her committee for helping to connect the right people with the right job, and to Reba Best and the Scholarship committee for ensuring that SEAALL's "best and brightest" have an opportunity to attend professional meetings. Thanks to Carol Billings and her Nominations committee for their successful efforts convincing a wonderful group of individuals to be candidates for the 1997-98 term. (What a job of arm twisting!)

Information Policy guru Tim Coggins and the Government Relations committee have kept us apprised of issues that affect libraries. Hazel Johnson has given numerous days of her life setting the agenda for the Education and Publications Committee; Hazel also is putting the final touches on the long awaited and completely revised SEAALL Handbook. Sue Burch's Membership Committee has begun an aggressive program to help lure others to a career in law librarianship, (misery must love company) and to make new librarians feel welcome in SEAALL. And of course I must thank Mary McCormick and the newsletter crew for all their work putting together a terrific newsletter for our members - what a job! I can't thank enough my neighbors -- Immediate Past Prez Joyce Janto and incoming Prez Donna Bausch -- for their good judgment and strong memory. Thanks also to our other board members Richard Boaz ("I'm taking your money and moving to South Carolina") and Connie Matzen ("I promise I won't put any embarrassing items in the minutes") for their hard work.

EDITOR'S NOTE

I wondered the other day how many person hours per year were spent in law libraries on computer related subjects. Far too many, I think, no matter what the number might be. We've been revising our collection development policy on electronica media and it has taken hours of individual and ad hoc meeting time (you know: the person who wrote it wants you to glance over it and the next thing you know five people are concentrating intently for twenty minutes). We're coping pretty well overall, but what did we used to do for eight hours a day? And was it more fun?

DEVELOPING SUCCESSFUL PUBLIC RELATIONS FOR LIBRARIES
By Lisa Smith-Butler
Georgia State University College of Law Library

According to the Public Relations Society of America, there are seven steps that are essential to the development of successful public relations. This process is applicable to any organization in any type of setting. The PR process requires:

* researching your organization;
* researching your audience;
* setting goals and objectives;
* developing a targeted message;
* choosing an effective media for communication;
* communicating; and
* evaluating progress.

Inevitably the first step requires that a library know something about the organization and the people that it serves. Who are we? Where are we going? Where have we been? These are questions to be answered. Research can provide answers. Check old organizational brochures or newsletters as well as old local newspapers for this information. Interview retired employees and current staff.

Know your audience. As librarians, that means know who your patrons are, what they like, what they need, and what they want. How do you get to know your audience? Talk to them at the Reference and Circulation Desks. Ask them to complete patron surveys, indicating their likes, dislikes, and needs. Ask them to put suggestions in a Suggestion Box.

Set goals and objectives. When Georgia State University College of Law hired a professor of environmental law, we set a goal of improving our limited environmental law collection. To accomplish this, we reviewed what we presently had. Then we located environmental law sources to compile a bibliography and presented it to the professor. Set goals that matter and that can be accomplished. Then develop a step-by-step plan to achieve the goals.

Once the goals are established, send your patrons the message. Let them know what services you can provide and make sure that you follow through. As an example, a firm library marketed its services to its attorneys by advising the attorneys that they could provide current awareness sources about clients. The attorney response was overwhelming, and the librarians set up Lexis Eclipse searches in the local newspaper database, using the clients’ names. This gave the library visibility which showed the attorneys the library’s marketing value as well as its legal research value.

Next, effectively communicate the message. Newsletters, bulletin boards, library kits, office wide e-mail, pathfinders, and library guides are all good methods for the library to communicate its message. Try setting up an Electronic Suggestion Box.

Finally, the library needs to evaluate its efforts. Have realistic goals been set? Are these goals useful to the library’s parent organization? Are patrons aware of the services available to them? Do patrons need and use these services? Again, a Suggestion Box as well as patrons surveys can be helpful tools for a library to evaluate its progress.

Implementing these steps can promote your library’s resources and services.
1997 SEAALL ANNUAL MEETING
PROGRAM TITLES

The Program Committee has been hard at work ever since last year's wonderful meeting in Austin to develop an interesting array of educational programming for Tallahassee. We hope that you will find the program titles which follow intriguing. Details on program content will be included in your preliminary program mailing.

There promises to be something for everyone at the 1997 SEAALL Annual Meeting. From Intranets to leadership to diversity to lobbying, we hope to stimulate, challenge and inspire you. We are privileged to be joined by law library leaders from across the country including a number of past and present AALL officers including Frank Houdek, AALL President, who will address our luncheon Friday afternoon. Law librarianship will be in the sunshine - and the future's so bright we gotta wear shades!

CHANGES TO ARTICLES
& BYLAWS

ONLY NOTICE

This is the only notice of proposed changes to the Articles and Bylaws you will receive. Changes in the articles or bylaws will no longer be mailed out separately before they are voted upon.

Articles:

Article VI: Officers
Currently reads: If the office of either secretary or treasurer becomes vacant for any reason, a special election will be held to fill that office for the remainder of the expired term.
Proposed change: If the office of either secretary or treasurer becomes vacant for any reason, the president will be empowered to appoint a successor to fill that office for the remainder of the unexpired term.
Rationale: To allow the smooth functioning of the Chapter if one of these offices becomes vacant. These officers perform duties that are time-sensitive and it may be inconvenient for the Chapter to have to wait to fill a vacancy.

Article VIII: Committees
Currently reads:
(1) Program
(2) Membership
(3) Nominating
(4) Placement
(5) Scholarship
(6) Articles and Bylaws
(7) Newsletter

Proposed changes and additions:
(7) Newsletter and Public Relations
(8) Education and Publications
(9) Government Relations
(10) Service to SEAALL

Rationale: Completes the combination of committee responsibilities discussed at the Austin and Indianapolis meetings. Adds two special committees to the list of standing committees.

Article XI: Bylaws
Currently reads: The bylaws of the corporation may be adopted, repealed, amended or suspended by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of the members voting in a ballot conducted by mail in the manner provided in the bylaws or at a meeting of the Chapter by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of the members voting in the ballot.
Proposed change: The bylaws of the corporation may be adopted, repealed, amended or suspended by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of the members voting in a ballot conducted by mail in the manner provided in the bylaws or at a meeting of the Chapter by two-thirds (2/3) vote of the members voting in the ballot as provided in the bylaws.
Rationale: Adds the same requirement to change things regardless of the form of the voting, either voice or mail.

Bylaws:

Article I: Membership
Section 2. Attributes of membership
Currently reads: (3) The right to receive Chapter publications shall be shared by all members.
Proposed change: (3) The right to receive the Chapter newsletter and the Chapter Membership Directory shall be shared by all members.

Rationale: SEAALL in the future may want to publish materials that are intended to be offered for sale. The current bylaw would prohibit that.

Article II. Meetings
Currently reads:
Sections 5. Rules of Procedure
Meetings of the Chapter and Executive Committee shall be conducted in accordance with Roberts Rules of Order except as otherwise specified by the Chapter Articles or Bylaws

Proposed Change: Meetings of the Chapter and Executive Committee shall be conducted in accordance with Sturgis' Standard Code of Parliamentary Procedure except as otherwise specified by the Chapter Articles or Bylaws.

Rationale: Sturgis is much easier to use than Roberts.

Article III. Nominations and Elections
Proposed addition:
Section 3. Special Elections.

a. Rational.
In the event that the office of the vice-president/president elect becomes vacant, a special election will be held to fill that office for the remainder of the unexpired term.

b. Nominations for special elections. Candidates for this special election will be selected by the Executive Committee.

c. Method of Election.
At the discretion of the Executive Committee, the special election may be held by mail or by a voice vote at a Chapter meeting. The candidates receiving the largest number of votes shall be declared elected.

Rationale: In the Articles we speak of a special election. This section tells us how to have one.

Article IV Amendments to the Bylaws
Section 1 Filing and Notice

a. Currently reads:
a. notice shall be published in the Chapter newsletter, Southeastern Law Librarian or its successor, at least 90 days prior to balloting, or

Proposed change:
a. notice shall be published in the Chapter newsletter at least 30 days prior to balloting.

Rationale: This reflects the fact that the newsletter is now a quarterly.

b. Voice ballots
Currently reads:
b. Voice ballots may be conducted for the purpose of changing the Articles or Bylaws at any regular scheduled meeting of the Chapter, provided that the secretary has mailed to the membership, at least 30 days prior to the meeting, the proposed amendments and a summary of the purpose of the changes.

Proposed change:
b. Voice ballots may be conducted for the purpose of changing the Articles or Bylaws at any regular scheduled meeting of the Chapter, provided that the proposed amendments and a summary of the changes have been:

i. mailed by the secretary to the membership at least 30 days prior to the meeting.

ii. printed in the Chapter newsletter at least 30 days prior to the meeting.

COSELL Special Project Grants

COSELL has extended the deadline to apply for GRANTS to fund cooperative and/or educational projects to March 31, 1997. Proposal selection will be based on the cooperative/educational nature of the proposal, the general benefits derived by COSELL libraries in particular and by law libraries in general, the number of institutions involved in the project, and the time frame of the project. Examples of projects include WEB pages of various sorts, librarian exchanges, and cooperative meetings. The maximum grant
Meet the librarians who can make your LEXIS®-NEXIS® service more informative.

Only LEXIS-NEXIS maintains a full-time staff dedicated exclusively to the needs of law firm and accounting firm librarians. All have earned degrees in library science and bring years of experience as firm or corporate legal librarians. They understand the research demands you encounter every day, and through training development and applications support, they can help you use the LEXIS-NEXIS service more effectively to deliver critical information in a timely, accurate manner. ALABAMA
Dr. Paul M. Pruitt, Jr., Special Collections/Collection Development Librarian, University of Alabama Law Library, is on sabbatical during the Spring 1997 semester. Paul is completing a history of legal institutions in Alabama with two other historians.

Renovations are underway in the University of Alabama Law Library to create a new Special Collections facility. The new facility, with more than 3,000 square feet, will provide research and study space for the users of its special collections and rare materials and will provide storage space to bring together the various collections. The library maintains an extensive collection of Justice Hugo L. Black materials and books and recently was named the repository for the papers and memorabilia of retired Senator Howell Heflin. The Heflin collection contains his senatorial papers and files and an extensive collection of files and materials from Senator Heflin’s terms as Chief Justice of the Alabama Supreme Court. Paul Pruitt will begin organizing and working with Senator Heflin’s materials when he returns to the Law Library in May 1997.

FLORIDA
Florida State, Court & County Law Libraries, Inc. held their 19th annual meeting in Tallahassee in October. Former Chief Justice Alan Sundberg installed the new officers: President Joan Cannon (Florida Supreme Court), Vice President Donna Haverhamp (Pinellas County), Secretary Linda Datko (Miami Federal Court), and Treasurer Teresa Farley (Florida Supreme Court).

GEORGIA
The University of Georgia Law Library has recently completed a retrospective conversion of its remaining card catalog records. The size of the online catalog is now more than double its original size. Funding for this project was obtained from the Galileo Project, the University System Chancellor's initiative for one state-wide library.

KENTUCKY
Kurt Metzmeier, former Reference/Computer Services Librarian at the University of Kentucky Law Library, has been promoted to Coordinator of Information Systems Services. Amy Osborne has been hired to replace Kurt in a newly restructured position, Reference/Circulation Librarian. Amy had been the librarian at Landrum & Shouse law firm in Lexington.

LOUISIANA
Ed Benefiel, formerly Regional Office Librarian at Phelps Dunbar in New Orleans in now Librarian at Gordon, Arata, also in New Orleans.

Christine A. Corcos, Director and Associate Professor of Law, Louisiana State University Law Center, has had published her article, Lawyers for Marianne: "The Nature of Discourse of the Entry of French Women into the Legal Profession, 1894-1926," 12 Georgia State Univ. Law Review 435 (January 1996).

Carol Billings, Director of the Law Library of Louisiana and president-elect of the Louisiana Library Association, delivered the commencement address to the December graduating class at the L.S.U. School of Library and Information Science.

MISSISSIPPI
The University of Mississippi has received an $18,000 grant for partial funding of a major upgrade of their computer lab. They also have a challenge fund raiser going to raise funds for a RAID compliant Internet server for Mississippi federal district court opinions. An Alum has issued a challenge by agreeing to match all contributions up to $7,500 to help raise $15,000 for their web server project.

NORTH CAROLINA
Haibin Hu has accepted a position as Reference Librarian at Wake Forest University Law Library, beginning March 10. For the last four years, he has worked as a Cataloging/Reference Librarian at the College of William and Mary Law Library.

The Librarian's Association at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is holding its annual spring conference on Monday, March 17, 1997 at the William and Ida Friday Center, UNC-CH. The title of the conference is Click on North Carolina: Connecting the State. The keynote speaker is Dr. Ralph Russell, University Librarian, Georgia State University, who will speak on the GALILEO project and the future. The Conference will then address the issue of where the state of North Carolina is in its effort to "connect the state", in particular the efforts of state government and the universities.

More information can be found at the following web site: http://www.unc.edu/lib/launch/conf97.htm or by contacting Terri Saye at (919) 962-0836 or email: tsaye@email.unc.edu.

Anne Sporn, Reference Librarian, Duke University Law Library, has been elected Vice President/President Elect of the Raleigh Area Law Librarians Association. Anne joined the Duke staff in 1995 and has worked previously as a law firm librarian and at the United States Senate Library.

SOUTH CAROLINA
U.S.C. School of Law cooperates with S.C. Administrative Law Judge Division in publishing ALJ Decisions. The University of South Carolina Web Site is the new home for decisions of the South Carolina Administrative Law Judge Division. Up until their publication began on the web at the end of December 1996, the ALJ published its opinions in paper format but did not generally distribute them except by special request. With this new arrangement, decisions are available on the site within one week of their release by the Division.

Decisions are divided on the site by agency and within each agency by type of case. Case types are arranged in a table of cases by docket number. By mid February, with the installation of a software upgrade, the decisions will be keyword searchable. At the end of February, the retrospective collection of ALJ decisions to the beginning of 1996 will also be added.

The Law Center has also created a home page for the ALJ where Annual Reports and ALJ Rules can be located.

Go to http://www.law.sc.edu for the USC Home Page; or http://www.law.sc.edu/alj/alj.htm for the Administrative Law Judge Home Page.
VIRGINIA

Timothy L. Coggins, Director of the Law Library at the University of Alabama, has accepted the position of Director of the Law Library at the University of Richmond. He will also be appointed an Associate Professor of Law. He plans to start August 1, 1997.

Also at the University of Richmond, the first phase of their classroom wiring project has been completed. All three of their large classrooms (seating 100, 100, and 70 students) have been wired so that there is an electrical outlet and a network connection available to each seat.

The University of Virginia Law Library welcomes Xinh "Sing" Luu as its new International and Foreign Law Librarian. Xinh is a 1996 graduate of the master's program in law librarianship at the University of Washington. She has a J.D. from the University of Utah.

Frosty Owen's committee planning for the VALL Annual Meeting includes Gail Warren, Gail Zwirner, Ann Long, Cindy Smith, and Sally Wambold. SEAALL members are invited to consider coming to another fine April meeting in Richmond, VA.

WEST VIRGINIA

The WVU College of Law Library has a number of exciting developments relating to technology to report. First, we recently upgraded all library staff computers to Pentium-based computers with direct internet connectivity. This enables the staff, particularly in Technical Services, to do a variety of online library functions from a single computer instead of using multiple computers and terminals to accomplish the same tasks.

We are in the process of upgrading one of our lab's eight 386 computers to twelve Pentium-based computers with full multimedia capability. With the addition of a computer projection unit and an instructor's workstation, faculty will be able to do multimedia presentations and instruction for up to 24 students.

Our new LAN provides the faculty and staff connectivity to file servers, CD-ROM databases, and the Internet.

Finally, as part of our planning to provide Internet access to our students, we decided to remove all of our Lexis and Westlaw computers from the Library. In their place we will install 16 new computers labeled Explorer and Voyager. Explorer terminals will provide access to Westlaw, Lexis, Netscape, E-Mail, and the State Bar's computer database. Voyagers will provide access to the card catalog, Wilson indexes, Infotrac and our CD-Roms. The addition of these computers will bring the total number of terminals dedicated to student use in the Library to 36.

WIN A FREE REGISTRATION!

Sue Burch, Chair,
Membership Committee

The SEAALL Membership Committee is sponsoring a FREE REGISTRATION to a first-time attendee at our Annual Meeting in Tallahassee! We are interested in encouraging our new members to attend SEAALL meetings, become active in our professional organization through committee work and special projects, and to meet those “faceless” names, voices, and e-mail messages in person!

Do you have a new member of your library staff who has never attended one of SEAALL’s annual meetings? Are you a librarian who has just joined SEAALL and has been thinking of signing up for the April Tallahassee meeting? Then register for SEAALL’s Annual Meeting and enjoy professional development, education and camaraderie, as well as have an opportunity to be reimbursed for your registration fee!

The Tallahassee meeting registration form will have a place to indicate whether you are a first-time attendee. These names will be extracted from the registration forms, and Jim Heller, President of SEAALL, will conduct the drawing at SEAALL’s Business Meeting.

One of the Membership Committee’s objectives is to promote and spotlight new members. Join us at the SEAALL meeting in Florida and let us educate, enthral and enlighten you -- and maybe even recognize you as a “winner”! Register soon for Law Libraries in the Sunshine.

Of course what many consider the best part of the year still lies ahead. Donna Bausch and the Program Committee have put together an outstanding program for the April 17-19 meeting in Tallahassee, and Alva Stone (Queen of the Panhandle and of The 21st Century Technical Services Workstation) and the Local Arrangements folks will ensure that we will have a wonderful time in Florida's capital.

And finally, a thanks to you all for giving me the honor to serve as your president. See you in Tallahassee, I hope!
