

Message From the President

Random thoughts from (another) 100-degree day in the Southeast...

Another AALL Annual Meeting is in the books and it was good to see so many of you in Washington, D.C. As usual, SEAALL was wonderfully represented but this year we can point with particular pride at former Chapter presidents, Jim Heller and Tim Coggins, for their stellar work as the presiding AALL President and Annual Meeting Program Committee chair, respectively. They led a contingent of countless other dedicated SEAALL members who served as speakers and program coordinators, AALL Chairs, and program volunteers during the meeting. Congratulations SEAALL members for another job well done!

Thanks to all the SEAALL members who made our Chapter VIPs feel welcome at the AALL Annual Meeting. Virginia Supreme Court Justice, Elizabeth Lacy, and University of Georgia Law School Dean, David Shipley, were seen attending various programs and social functions where they met many SEAALL and non-SEAALL librarians.

EDITOR'S NOTE

It's mid-August in Kentucky; it is very, very hot and there has been little or no rain for two months. I hope the climate is more pleasant where you are.

If you are in an academic library, you know that the students return soon and we are all into another year of what we do. The rest of the SEAALL members do what they do ALL year long.

This issue has some snapshots from the Washington meeting in July. Maybe you can find yourself!

SEAALL was honored that such distinguished individuals as Justice Lacy and Dean Shipley would be our guests, and I hope that they enjoyed getting to know more about our profession as much as we enjoyed having them in attendance.

As we all swelter in the summer sun, perhaps a few thoughts about our upcoming annual meeting on the beach in Puerto Rico will help us survive the dog days. It probably won't surprise you to know that I have heard from many non-SEAALL members who would like to figure out how they can join us in San Juan! Local Arrangements chairs, Mike Whipple and Pedro Padilla-Rosa, reported in D.C. that planning for the meeting is on track. And, Cathy Lemann's program committee is in the earliest stages of preparing a slate of educational sessions that should be as rewarding as the meeting site will be beautiful. Mark your calendars for March 31 - April 1, 2000 for what should be a SEAALL meeting to remember!

Finally, let me thank all SEAALL members in attendance at the Chapter business meeting in D.C. or who have weighed in thereafter for their thoughtful and sensitive comments in response to my request for member feedback concerning the NAACP boycott of South Carolina as a site for business and personal travel until such time as the Confederate flag is removed from the State Capitol. Ours is a profession representative of the highest ideals and conscience, and one that is rooted in principles of equality and diversity.

Although our Board deferred its official decision on Columbia's bid to host the 2002 SEAALL Annual Meeting until members could express their thoughts on this issue, the comments that we have received reflect that we are part of a profession that believes in, and acts in accordance with, these ideals and principles. Those of us in Columbia who would love to host you in our city stand just as solidly for those principles and, as a result, have withdrawn our bid to serve as hosts until the boycott is lifted (and will communicate the reason for our decision to local convention officials and to the local chapter of the NAACP). We know that our colleagues in Ft. Lauderdale will do a wonderful job putting on the 2002 Annual Meeting and thank them for their willingness to act as hosts. But, all of us hope, especially those of us with this state, that the day will come when we can, in good conscience, hold another meeting in South Carolina.

I am finding that it can be very hot here in the Southeast, even within my air conditioned office. Stay cool wherever you are....

-Steve Hinckley
The President, Steve Hinckley, in the Chair, called the meeting to order in the Grand Hyatt Burnham Room at 4:50 p.m. He welcomed everyone and then introduced the officers. The President especially recognized Mr. Stanley Bougas, formerly of Emory University, SEAALL president 1959-1960, saying how pleased we were to have him with us.

APPROVAL OF MINUTES:
The Secretary announced that the minutes of the last Business Meeting, held in Knoxville, TN on 16 April, 1999 were published in Southeastern Law Librarian, v. 24, no. 2, Spring 1999. She asked that the minutes be taken as read. From the floor Bill Beintema requested an amendment to the minutes, to be printed here as follows:
Bill Beintema, as chair, thanked his committee, mentioning the staffs of the University of Tennessee and Vanderbilt Law Libraries and others, for their hard work on the project. He especially thanked Reba Best for pushing him to get things done to make the meeting a success, Sally Carter for her willingness to meet everyone’s special needs, Judy Kelley who planned the food events, and Anna Belle Leiserson who constructed the website.
The minutes were then approved as printed with the addition of Mr. Beintema’s amendment.

FINANCIAL REPORT:
The Treasurer, Sally Wambold, gave the financial report. She announced that the balance of the bank account stands at $31,484.59. However, there are still some outstanding expenses from the Knoxville meeting. When all final expenses are accounted for, the Treasurer and the 1999 Local Arrangements Chair, Bill Beintema, estimate that the Knoxville meeting’s income will fall between $500 and $1,000 short of the total meeting expenses.

FUTURE MEETING SITES:
The next meeting, 2000, will be held in San Juan, Puerto Rico from 29 March through 1 April. Mike Whipple reported that the opening reception would be held at the old Fort San Geronimo, and that he was negotiating for an activity for the second evening, possibly at Paseo de la Princesa. The hotel rate is $155.00 per night. There was some comment on the re-opening of the Hilton in time for the meeting, but Mr. Whipple assured the members that there were several conferences already scheduled towards the end of the year and that the hotel would be open. Pedro Padilla-Rosa had assembled a basket of pan-Caribbean specialties, and a drawing then took place. Linda Davis was the winner and carried off the basket.
The 2001 meeting will be held as a joint SEAALL/SWALL meeting in Atlanta from 19 through 21 April. The President requested that members mark their calendars.
With respect to the 2002 meeting, for which Columbia, SC, was applying, the President announced that the NAACP had proposed a boycott on travel to the state of South Carolina in an attempt to remove the Confederate battle flag from atop the Statehouse. The President requested that the meeting go off the Rules of Order so that there could be a conversation and some general guidance on this topic. The President promised that he would confer with the Board in several weeks and that a decision would be made concerning the site of the 2002 meeting at that time. The decision will be announced to members on SEAALL-L.

Returning to regular order:

SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON PRIVATE LAW LIBRARY MEMBERSHIP:
The President reported that he had appointed Kay Todd to chair a Special Committee on Private Law Library Membership. He said that currently academic law librarians form 60% of the membership and law firm librarians 27%. He has asked Ms. Todd and committee to consider strategies that would revive interest in SEAALL among private sector librarians.

COMMITTEE REPORTS AND SPECIAL CITATIONS:
Articles and Bylaws—Sue Burch. There have been no changes proposed.
Education and Public Relations—Charles Oates has communicated with his committee members.
Government Relations—Rebekah Maxwell has her committee in place.
Membership—Terry Long and her committee worked with the SEAALL table. They assembled a chapter photo album, displayed membership brochures and also materials for future meeting sites.

Nominations—Committee member, Amy Osborne, distributed a document from Chair, Hazel Johnson, soliciting interested SEAALL members to consider candidacy for Chapter office in the next election.
Placement—Bill Cooper said that everyone on his committee has agreed to serve.
Scholarship—Carol Nicholson said that her committee was looking into having categories for different classes of members, whether people were newer or older or more experienced.
Service to SEAALL—Ed Schroeder reported that the award had been made, but it would not be announced as the recipient was not present.
Program Committee—Cathy Lemann announced that the Program Committee will meet. She requested ideas for programs for the 2000 meeting.
In a special citation, the President recognized SEAALL for its leadership in AALL and singled out the President of AALL, Jim Heller and the Chair of the Annual Meeting Program Selection Committee, Tim Coggins, as SEAALL members deserving special recognition. They were given a round of applause.

NEW BUSINESS:
There were some announcements for events occurring during the later part of the Annual Meeting.
This business meeting was adjourned at 5:35 p.m. and the members adjourned to the Reception which followed.

Respectfully submitted,
Diana Osbaldiston, Secretary.

NORTH CAROLINA

Duke University

In March Duke Law Library hosted an AALL conference on Space Planning in Academic Law Libraries. The conference attracted about 100 registrants from academic libraries in the United States, Canada, and Australia. The two day session focused on various aspects of space planning and featured numerous speakers including architects and librarians. Topics included selecting an architect, planning for technical services, furniture selection, and many others. Guests also attended a reception at the University of North Carolina Law Library.

Michael Hannon joins the Duke staff in August as its newest reference librarian. Michael is completing his Library degree at the University of Illinois where he worked at the law library reference desk. He attended law school at the University of Minnesota.

Mark Bernstein is a current at large board member of COSELL.

Dick Danner spoke at the Caribbean Association of Law Libraries meeting in St. Lucia at the end of July.

North Carolina Bar Association

North Carolina law librarians not already eligible to join the North Carolina Bar Association may now become affiliate members of the Association's Law Practice Management Section. The Section approved an amendment to its bylaws during its annual meeting May 20-21, 1999. Librarians employed by law firms, law school libraries, county or state law libraries, or state or local bar associations are eligible for affiliate membership. Many thanks to Tom Steele who drafted the language and shepherded it through the bylaw amendment process.

North Carolina Supreme Court Library

In March Masako Patrum joined the staff of the North Carolina Supreme Court Library as Acquisitions and Cataloging Librarian, and reports that she is glad to be back in the Tar Heel State. Prior to this she was the Circulation Librarian at Vanderbilt University Law Library.

Raleigh Area Law Librarians Association

Attendees at the North Carolina Bar Association Annual Meeting in Asheville, N.C. were able to find out about how to hire a law librarian, or develop a collection consisting of several media when they visited the exhibit sponsored by the Raleigh Area Law Librarians Association. They often asked about what law librarians in their area were doing to serve the bar and each other. Visitors to the exhibit received handouts on law librarianship prepared by AALL and SEALL. The AALL tip cards were a popular "freebie." Staffing the exhibit were Don Adamick (Womble Carlyle Sandridge & Rice), Mary Louise Corbett (Wake Forest Univ. Professional Center Library), Barbara Duval and Susan Kaydos (Smith, Helms, Mulliss & Moore, Charlotte), Connie Matzen (Smith, Anderson, Blount, Dorsett, Mitchell & Jerminian), and Elyse Fox.
In addition to RALLA, the Kathrine R. Everett Law Library at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, and the Smith, Anderson Law Firm provided financial support for the exhibit.

University of North Carolina

Anne Klinefelter, formerly Acting Director at the University of Miami School of Law Library, has become the Assistant Director for Research, Instruction and Access Services at the Kathrine R. Everett Law Library.

Anne began work at the beginning of July just in time to join the rest of the staff in moving the entire library collection in anticipation of the completion of an addition to the Law School. The just completed wing contains 55,000 square feet of which about 10% is new library space.

Steven Melamut has accepted the position of Reference Librarian at the Kathrine R. Everett Law Library as of July 1.

Wake Forest University

The Professional Center Library is in the midst of change. Former Director Tom Steele moved into his new office on the faculty hallway ready to assume full-time teaching duties. The library staff was sad to lose Tom as Director, but pleased to be able to keep him as a colleague.

The library is also pleased to announce the arrival of the new Director, Marian Parker.

Marian has already had a distinguished and varied career. Most recently she was Acting Senior Director for Law Schools & Courts at Lexis Publishing. Prior to that Marian worked for North Carolina’s Governor Hunt on special projects. Her academic law library directing experience includes stints at NYU and Harvard. Please join us in welcoming Marian back to the law library community.

The Lucile Elliot Scholarship program grants individual awards based on need and the actual cost of the activity for which the applicant is seeking assistance.

The application form is available in this issue of the newsletter. You may include additional information on a separate sheet, if you feel it is relevant to your application. Below are the Lucile Elliot Scholarship Guidelines. These guidelines are the criteria the Committee will use in evaluating your application.

SEAALL 99: Being There
Report submitted by Rebekah Maxwell,

University of South Carolina School of Law
1999 Recipient, Lucile Elliott Scholarship

I've been a SEAALL member since 1994 (counting my hitch as a student member) and attended the conference in New Orleans last year, but this year was special. This year I was the happy recipient of a Lucile Elliott Scholarship. In my whole two years of SEAALL conference attendance, this is the one I enjoyed the most. Knoxville is a friendly, welcoming city and the mountain scenery was breathtaking. Bill Beintema and the Local Arrangement Committee stole the show with their amazing powers of organization, originality and social intuition. The opening reception was a tour-de-force, held at the Knoxville Museum of Art and replete with the finest selection of munchies I've ever seen. A piano saxophone combo provided marvelous mood music and I had a great time catching up with old friends and meeting new ones. Hats off to the members of Local Arrangements who stood in the chilly wind holding signs so we didn't get lost on the way to the museum. Your efforts were above and beyond! Steve Hinckley and the Program Committee did a great job of lining up speakers for the conference. I attended programs on economics and management of legal information, the Y2K problem, the future of the government depository program (great skit, Kelly!), adapting to change, and legal technology. How's that for variety, and that was only about half of them!

I have to mention the generosity and creativity of the folks from Puerto Rico. What a lot of neat stuff you gave us at your display table, and thank you for the souvenir pins provided at the Friday lunch!

I got very jealous on the tour of the new University of Tennessee College of Law building. It's a beautiful and well-planned facility and was no doubt the envy of us all. Special thanks to Bill Beintema, Steve Thorpe and their staff for graciously allowing us free run of their library. Thanks also to all the people who worked to make this conference a good experience.

The Hein Fun Run at the AALL Washington Meeting.

The Hein Fun Run— the memories conjured up by those little words! What began on a stifling morning along a bayou in Houston in 1983, I suspect as a challenge between two marathon runners Bill Hein and Paul Rothman, has grown into an event many of us carefully schedule into our annual meeting programs. Some of us even train for it. We absolutely wouldn't miss it.

Many of you would have been aware from the notices that we all received in the weeks prior to the Annual Meeting that the Hein Fun Run & Walk would be held on Sunday morning instead of Tuesday as had been the tradition. The change of day was dictated by the National Park Service, which does not permit races in the Washington area parks during the week. So we gathered, about 150 of us, at the Hyatt at 6:30 a.m. and were bused to East Potomac Park for the 17th annual race. Our hosts had once again provided a generous assortment of fruits and juices for our refreshment. Dick Spinelli, attired in a gorgeous Uncle Sam style tail coat of electric blue sequins with appropriate red and white tie and waistcoat, directed the race. We started beside the curious statue entitled "The Awakening", which was entirely suitable to the hour. ("The Awakening" is a statue in pieces. It shows a bearded head and arms and legs, all larger than life size, emerging from a bed of gravel.)

The most original attire trophy was won by a group dressed as the Supremes -- judges' gowns covered in spangles and Supreme Court justices' names cleverly mixed with the singers'. This group is a trio of ladies from Western New England who are most creative. The rest of us eagerly look for their next offering. The best dressed winner was a Cat in the Hat.

The runners ran a 5K course and the walkers walked a mile. At the end SEALL members were well represented among the trophy winners. Gordon Russell, St. Thomas University, carried off a Parrish Carrick award and his 10 year old son J.P. Russell took 2nd place in the men's 29 and under class. We swept the ladies' 40-49 class with Cathy Palombi, University of Virginia, in 1st place and Pamela Melton, University of South Carolina, in 2nd. Jane Fryatt of James, McElroy & Diehl in Charlotte, was 2nd in the ladies' 50-55 class. Diana Osbaldiston, University of South Carolina, being the only runner in the ladies' 55 and over class, took 1st place.

As always the event was a pleasant diversion and those of us who participated enjoyed it immensely. Thank you, William S. Hein folks, for your continuing sponsorship.

--Diana Osbaldiston

REPORT ON SEAALL PRE-CONFERENCE INSTITUTE:
Training the Trainers
By Susan E. Szymula, Director, Brevard County Law Library, Viera, FL

The Pre-Conference Institute, "Training the Trainers", was conducted by Ann Caputo, Assistant Director of Information Professional Programs at Dow Jones Interactive Publishing. The Institute was held on Wednesday, April 15, 1999. Since I teach a number of formal classes in addition to one-to-one library instruction, I was very interested in attending the Institute.

We learned the characteristics of adult learners, the principles of learning, educational theories, modes of learning and appropriate teaching techniques for different learning styles. Small group discussions about good and bad learning experiences led to a list of the traits of good and bad teachers. Good teachers are enthusiastic, interact with their students, and use repetition. Bad teachers are condescending, read from the book, don't interact with students, use outdated materials, and belittle those who ask questions. I thoroughly enjoyed the theoretical discussions about learning, the group participation and gathering ideas from my colleagues. I left the Institute with a long list of practical information and tips that I hope to use in my own training sessions, such as:

- People pay closest attention at the beginning of a class, to see what's going to happen, and at the end of the class, since that's their last chance to learn anything!
- Give an introduction to the class and state goals. Throughout the class, refer back to these goals often. Use them as a road map.
- Don't say anything important while you are distributing handouts because no one is paying attention to what you're saying. Many are worrying if you have enough handouts!
- Midway through the class, perhaps after a break, ask: "What have you learned that you did not know an hour ago?"
- Use a variety of techniques and equipment, such as group discussions, audio-visual materials and flipcharts, to keep students involved and reach different types of learners.
- Repetition is good. Repetition is good. Repetition is good.
The foremost Early American Legal Bibliography culminating nearly thirty-five years of research!

Bibliography of Early American Law
by Morris L. Cohen, Yale Law School

Morris Cohen's finest work! Available in both print and CD-ROM for one low price! Invaluable information on more than 14,000 imprints!

The foremost early American legal bibliography...

The Bibliography of Early American Law (popularly known as BEAL), covers the period from the beginnings of American history up to and including 1860. It lists and describes the monographic and trial literature on American law and American legal development, regardless of language or place of publication. It also includes works on foreign, comparative, and international law if published in the United States during this crucial, formative period. There are more than 14,000 items in the bibliography.

Convenient browsing by subject...

The entries in BEAL are divided into four major sections: Monographs; Civil Trials; Criminal Trials; and Special Proceedings.

Within the major sections, the arrangement of entries is classified by broad subject categories (many of which have topical subdivisions). Each major subject category is preceded by a scope note describing its content in general terms. Cross-references to other categories further aid the researcher.

A complete bibliographic record...

Of equal value to the full bibliographic record are the annotations Professor Cohen has made to the entries. Notes as to the physical structure of the work, its contents, or any unusual features, appear in many entries.

Accessible by eight indexes...

1. Jurisdiction Index
2. Parties Index
3. Place and Publisher Index
4. Chronological Index
5. Language Index
6. Author Index
7. Title Index
8. Subject Index

Two formats — the best of both worlds!

With Hein's low multimedia price, libraries can offer legal historians, librarians, bibliographers, and catalogers two choices: the bound BEAL set, with more than 14,000 entries and eight indexes preserved on long-life, acid-free paper, and/or a CD-ROM version for specialized searches and creating lists. In either format, BEAL offers scholars and legal researchers effective access to the voluminous, and until now, uncharted literature of early American law.

The multimedia package —
The six-volume set with the CD-ROM . . . $1,695.00
The six-volume set, bound .......... $1,595.00
The CD-ROM .................. $1,495.00

CD-ROM license good for up to five sets. Additional license available — please inquire.
Please note, the author's continuing research into this period of American history may provide supplementation to BEAL in three to five years.

Plan to Be a Part of SEAALL San Juan 2000

Sun, beaches, an old colonial city, a modern metropolis, shopping, Caribbean cuisine, piña coladas, salsa music, casinos and a warm climate offering a respite from the last vestiges of a mainland winter – experience them all at SEAALL’s next annual meeting to be held March 30-April 1, 2000. The meeting site will be the recently renovated Caribe Hilton Hotel. The hotel is less than two miles from the historic Old City and within walking distance of many attractions in the Condado tourist area. We are already planning a memorable opening reception in San Gerónimo, a small Spanish colonial fort that adjoins the Caribe Hilton property.

During his second voyage in 1493, Columbus “discovered” Puerto Rico and met its two predominant Amerindian occupants, the Taínos and the Caribs. Settlements were soon established by the Spanish, and Puerto Rico became the first and last port of call for the many Spanish ships coming and going from other Latin American colonies. Due to this strategic location, San Juan also became the target of the English, French, and Dutch who were all attempting to establish hegemony in the Caribbean Basin. These challenges in the 16th, 17th, and 18th centuries led to construction of an elaborate network of forts and city walls, much of which has been preserved. The 19th century was a period of substantial economic growth and political agitation but the island remained essentially loyal to Spain despite the call to revolution by other Spanish colonies. It was also a period of negotiation with Spain for increased self-rule and trade liberalization which culminated in 1897 in the Autonomic Charter.

This experiment in self-government had barely gotten started when war broke out between Spain and the United States. In the Treaty of Paris of 1898, Spain ceded Puerto Rico to the United States. After a brief military government, a civilian government was established and in 1917, Puerto Ricans were granted United States citizenship. Gradual measures resulted in increased self-rule for Puerto Rico leading to the present Commonwealth status in 1952. Status issues continue to dominate Puerto Rican politics with three political parties which advocate respectively statehood, an enhanced commonwealth status, and independence. Recent status plebiscites have produced confusing results and no predominant, clear-cut winner.

This history is reflected in the many attractions of Old San Juan:

El Morro Fort

Begun in 1540 and “completed” in 1787, this fort guarded the natural harbor of San Juan and was the largest Spanish fortification in the New World. Contains a small museum but its main attraction is in exploring the various levels and types of fortifications. It is now overseen by the U.S. Parks Service and is open everyday 9am – 5 pm. You should not miss this attraction.
Fort San Cristóbal
Begun in 1634, this fort guarded the city from a direct land attack. Has a small museum and gift shop. Also administered by the U.S. Parks Service and open everyday 9am – 5 pm.

San José Church
Begun in 1532, it is the most charming of the Old San Juan churches. A statue of Ponce de León, Puerto Rico's first governor, graces the small plaza in front of this church.

San Juan Cathedral
Reconstructed many times, the Cathedral dominates the charming “Plaza de las Monjas.” On the left side of the Cathedral, you will find the tomb of Ponce de León, brought here after he met his death in Florida.

Cristo Chapel
At this spot in 1753, a rider plunged over the precipice but survived. The chapel was constructed to memorialize this legendary miracle.

La Fortaleza
The Governor’s Mansion was begun in 1553 and still functions as the official residence of the governor. Tours are offered of its public gardens.

Museums
The Museum of Puerto Rican Art and History, the Balajá Museum, the Pablo Casals Museum, the Casa del Libro, the Casa Blanca, and the Casa del Callejón.

Cruise Ship Piers
Come see which cruise ships are docked at the recently renovated facilities in the Old City.

Shopping and Restaurants
There are a variety of tourist shops, some with interesting local handicrafts. The Old City has a number of designer shops as well as several factory outlet shops. The Old City is also home to some of San Juan’s best restaurants.
